

The Principles of Materials Presentation for Publication in the Journal

The materials for publication are to be presented as a file in Microsoft Word for Windows format by e-mail tng98@list.ru;

The materials for publication must contain abstract (not less than 700 characters or 10 lines) and keywords.

The manuscript must contain names and surnames of all authors, the full name of organization, e-mail, address (with index), and telephone number.

The articles should be original and may not be published earlier in other print media.

The text of an article

The total number of pages in the manuscript shouldn't be more than 14, including figures and tables. It is recommended to use 12 text size, sesquialateral interline spacing. When using units of measurement, one should follow International System of Units (SI), for example, pressure — in MPa, density — in kg/m³, etc.

References to the literature are to be listed in the text in square brackets, for example, [1, 2], [4–6]. Data duplication in text, figures and tables is not acceptable.

Figures

Figures are to be black-white, apart from photos. Graphics, diagrams, flow sheets are recommended to be presented in TIFF, Adobe Illustrator, Photoshop, Visio formats. Figures must be readable and made on white background. Each figure must contain legend text. Axes of diagrams are to have unabridged captions. Elements of sheets, drawings, etc. must have captions or legends.

Tables

Tables are recommended to be presented in Microsoft Word or Excel formats. Each table line must be executed like exactly as separate line. Splitting of rows and columns of the table using space mark and Enter is not allowed.

Equations

Simple equations are recommended to be done in Microsoft Word, more complicated – in Microsoft Equation Editor or in any other similar editors. All parameters of the equation must be determined. The determination is presented only once, when the parameter is found for the first time. Presentation of equations as figures is not acceptable.

Articles are published in accordance with their receipt in the editorial.